

Exercises for 02-Memory

Memory

1. What is the memory in a computer used for?
2. When storing a value in memory the computer puts that value in a certain place, called an address. Instead of you and/or your program remembering the address you can name this memory, e g `nr-of-students`. What is such a named memory called?