

Solutions for function-invocation

invocation

1. `hello()`;
2. First we declare an integer variable, `x`, and initialise it to 1.
We know that `hiThere` is a function or method because of the parentheses.
This means it is a function/method invocation and thus `hiThere` will be executed twice.
Finally the variable is assigned the value 3